

The experiment, located in Safaria, near Ben Gurion Airport, as detected by Google Earth

Photoselective nets is a new technology which is currently tested in a few fruit trees. The effect of four nets, red, yellow, white and transparent is investigated on the productivity, fruit quality, water use efficiency and many other parameters in Or mandarin (in collaboration with Yosepha Shahak).

